LEADERSHIP

IMA is a niche economic, business and market research firm that provides insights and analysis to top management audiences in India through multiple channels. As one of the country's largest content-based peer group platforms for CEOs and top functional executives, comprising more than 2,000 Indian and global business/functional heads from over 1,200 member companies, IMA's research and opinion has informed the perspectives of business leaders for over 26 years.

IMA's briefing sessions, led by well-regarded speakers from industry, government, academia and the media, offer candid and authoritative perspectives on a wide range of economic, policy, business and functional issues. Insights from these sessions are captured and distilled into crisp, focused conclusions papers.

In addition, IMA's in-house research team, which comes with decades of collective experience tracking the Indian operating environment, has created a vast collection of original, business-centric research papers of direct relevance to corporate decision-makers. These cover subjects ranging from economic and policy analysis to industry trends, management practices and emerging business ideas.

Collectively, this body of work contains rich lessons, fascinating case studies and deep, often unique perspectives on the challenges, opportunities and – most of all – the reality of operating in India. This series of compendiums is an attempt to share some of the most timeless and relevant learnings, both from our original research and from selectively curated session-conclusion papers.

Please note that the views expressed in the session-conclusions papers may not be those of IMA India. Further, some of the ideas captured in this volume reflect an individual's or institution's position on an issue at a particular point in time, which may subsequently have changed. The contents of this document are only intended to facilitate a better understanding of the Indian business environment for senior managers, and are not to be used as the basis for specific business decisions. The present volume focuses on the issue of leadership, in all of its forms. It looks at what it takes to be a leader today and what leadership means in a post-pandemic world, including at the functional level. It also contains a number of inspirational case-studies of individuals who have overcome seemingly insurmountable challenges, in business as well as their personal lives.
